How CAN PARENTS—Allow their children to cough and calmly say: "Oh! its only a little cold," and keep giving them cheap medicines, until they are down with lung fever or consumption, when they can be so easily relieved by using BEGG'S CHERRY COUGH SYRUP? It has no superior and few equals. W. H. Chedie, Druggist.

COUGH! AND COUGH! AND COUGH!!—What in the world is the reason you will cough and keep coughing and still keep trying inferior medicines when BEGG'S CHERRY COUGH SYRUP will positively relieve your cough at once? This is no advertising scheme, but an actual fact, and we guarantee it. W. H. Chedie, Druggist.

WHAT ON EARTH—Is the reason people will not, cannot, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? ONE ON OUR SENATORS.

Nevada's Senators Indulge in a Senatorial Poker Game.

Years ago Jones, Vest, Stewart and Cameron were playing a game of poker one evening, and although the stakes were not high, the company was good and it ran until long after midnight. A week afterward Vest remarked to Jones, "I say, Jones, wasn't that a nice game the other evening? Everything went along so well and no one at the game had to watch the other three. I like a gentleman's gamelike that, where we don't even have to cut the cards for a square deal."

Jones, who is an incorrigible wag, suddenly conceived the idea of having some fun with Vest, so he manufactured a story to fit the occasion.

"I'm glad you think so," he said, but Bill Stewart doesn't have that idea of it."

"What!" said Vest, quite seriously, "do you mean to tell me that Stewart thinks there was cheating in that game?"

"That the idea he conveyed to his wife when he reached home. She spoke to me about it yesterday."

"I'm really sorry to hear that," said Vest. "I feel hurt to hear he felt that he hadn't lost his money on the square."

"I feel the same way," replied Jones. "I felt as if a thunderclap had struck me."

"What did he say about it?" asked Vest.

"Well, he came home about 3 o'clock and his wife noticed that his beard was all covered with tobacco juice, a very unusual thing for him, and she took him to task for it. He said he had been in a Senatorial poker game."

"Were there no cuspidors in the room?"

"Yes, plenty of 'em."

"Couldn't you turn from the cards long enough to use them?"

"No, my dear; not in that game."

NOW LET HIM HOWL.

The Arizona "Kicker" Man Writes About a Contemporary.

When the old chattel-mortgaged, bankrupted, poverty-stricken concern down the avenue which claims to be a newspaper, bought an old power press over in Tombstone City on tick and had it hauled over here by a twelve-mule team, he expected the American continent to tip up at an angle of forty five degrees, says the Arizona Kicker. "He was the first to display enterprise—it was the first power press in town—he would show the people what real newspaper enterprise was," and so forth and so on. That press, as everybody knows, has proved a flat failure, except to kill off two half breeds who talked into its bowels under the idea that it was a phonograph, and as for any improvements in the typographical appearance or interest of our contemporary, it had there. Nothing but a drunken riot and a case of absolute "pi" could do that.

We haven't been cowering around any; but we have been at work all the same. We now take the pleasure in announcing to our readers that beginning next week we shall not only ink the forms of the Kicker with a regular glue and molasses roller procured in Denver at a great expense and as a particular favor, but we shall place a jar of beans in our window and offer a hundred years subscription to the person making the nearest guess as to the exact number. Three months will be allowed for sending in the guesses.

As if this were not enough to make the aforesaid cross-eyed, lame-jointed, buck-kneed, one-storied hyena who adds the word "editor" to his name wish he has never been born, we shall offer a prize of four gallons of whisky to the half-breed who can wear a shirt the longest, and take our whole force up in a balloon as soon as the vehicle, already contracted for can arrive.

Now let our contemporary howl with his cracked voice and gnash his old soaps together! We have only just begun with him. He talks of editorial enterprise! He prates of giving subscribers double the value of their money! Why, we can think of more schemes in five minutes than could be crowded in his cranium in 2000 years! We've been a little saving of late, but now that this so called "publisher" has seen fit to blow his bugle horn about enterprise we'll go down into our sack and spend our last dime to drive him into a rabbit hole and plug up the entrance.

EASTER MUSIC.—The following selections will be rendered by the Choir of the Episcopal Church next Sunday: Easter Hymn (Buck); "Christ Our Passover" (Wheat); Glories (Wilson); Te Deum (Lloyd); Jubilate Deo (Leach); Kyrie Eleison (Elvey); Hymn (Worgan); Offertory, "The Lord is Risen" (Holden); Sanctus, Gloria in Excelsis, Nunc Dimittis. The music was all selected by Mrs. Bender in San Francisco, and will be rendered under her direction.

NOTICE.—The party who took a gray coat from the Arlington House, can have the pants and vest by applying to Oliver Roberts, and no questions asked, if he will return the letters and papers contained in the inside pocket of the coat. HARRY LOWDEN.

RENO POSTOFFICE EMPLOYEES.—Last evening General Hagerman turned the Reno postoffice over to his successor, Henry P. Kraus, who appointed L. P. MaLotte Deputy and Miss Stella Nash delivery clerk.—Gazette.

GUITAR LESSONS.—S. A. Liggins the guitarist, is now prepared to take a class of pupils and instruct them in guitar playing. Mr. Liggins is a thorough master of the instrument, and will guarantee satisfaction. Rates, $5 per month, two lesson per week. For further information apply at this office. f27tf
